Two killed in Highway 22 collision

A head-on collision one-half kilometre east of town last Wednesday afternoon took the lives of both drivers. Maynard Bradley Meads, 28, of Breton, died when his west-bound vehicle collided with an east-bound motorhome on Highway 22. The driver of the motorhome, Alex Foster, 75, of Ponoka, died en route to hospital.

Two other passengers in the motorhome, Mary Foster of Ponoka and her daughter Janet Foster, of Calgary, were both admitted to the Drayton Valley hospital with minor injuries.

Traffic backed up in both directions along Highway 22 as RCMP, fire, rescue and ambulance people worked around the scene. It was 11 p.m., five hours after the accident when the two vehicles involved had finally been loaded on trucks and the area cleaned up.

The accident came just eight days after Drayton Valley resident Gordon Walter Otto Schulz, 31, was killed in an two-vehicle collision 10 kms east of town on Highway 22.

Drayton Valley RCMP Cpl. Tom Turner says he's puzzled by the rash of auto accidents that have occurred in the area over the last several weeks.

"We seem to be getting a large number of serious-type accidents but I don't really understand why," he said. "Both road and weather conditions have been good."

RCMP are continuing their investigation.

Brazeau planning new projects

The Municipal District of Brazeau is planning some major road and drainage improvements.

Two new roads, one a quarter-of-a-mile in length and the other a mile-long, will be built in the Buck Creek area.

Following a road trip last Wednesday MD interim manager Earl Brazeau says many problem areas were identified.

A couple of major washouts will be investigated further and a tremendous beaver problem has to be dealt with.

The MD also added to their equipment pool by purchasing two new half-ton trucks and a tandem truck from Mayhew Motors. The successful dealer was selected after bids were taken.

The MD also met with Drayton Valley Mayor Bob Mayhew, Councillor Alex Sali and town manager Mary Deel last week. Details of that meeting were not made public.

The MD is also planning four major drainage improvement projects for 1988.

Motorists who use the airport road will be glad to hear the MD is planning to grade that every Friday.

Special-section winner

A substance abuse awareness special section printed in The Western Review last fall has been selected as the best special section in Canada.

The special section also appeared in all of Lyrard Publisher's papers. The award was presented at the recent Canadian Community Newspapers Association convention in Regina.

Environmental group attacks 2,4-D spraying

TransAlta Utilities has begun a summer-long herbicide spraying program to rid powerline areas of potentially obstructive vegetation.

A company official says the program, the first of its kind in the area since 1983, will see 2,4-D sprayed in green areas to kill problem growth and promote the development of compatible vegetation.

However, an Edmonton-based environmental group says use of the 2,4-D herbicide should be restricted, and the public would be better served if a manual-clearing program was carried out.

"Because of the controversy surrounding 2,4-D, the province should be restricting its use," said Randy Lawrence of Toxics Watch.

'Lots of alternatives'

"There are lots of alternatives — manual clearing is one — which they could use until the controversy can be resolved."

Lawrence added his group is in the early stages of preparing a position paper on the herbicide.

He said 2,4-D is one of about three herbicides approved in Alberta for agricultural purposes, despite the fact some studies have condemned it as a cancer-causing agent.

"Because it is a possible carcinogen...the least (TransAlta) could do is warn the public about it."

However, TransAlta forester Sig Guggenmos said 2,4-D is considered "one of the safest" herbicides available to the company, and added that most of the chemical is broken down within two weeks of its application.

Guggenmos also said manual clearing is not considered a real option because it wouldn't prove to be cost effective. He noted such a program would cost between 300- and 400-per-cent more than a herbicide program over a 30-year cycle.

"We're not promoting its use in any way," he said. "But we have to maintain the right-of-way at the most economical cost for the customers."

'It's just a rumor'

Rumors the sawmill at Sturdi Wood will close in mid-August are just that — a rumor.

That's the word from sawmill manager Bill Caron.

"It's only a rumor. No closure is planned," Caron told The Western Review.

However, he even admitted to hearing the rumors himself.

While wet weather affected the hauling of logs into the sawmill, Caron says "trucks are now hauling like crazy."

"They're bringing in more logs than we're using," he added.

The sawmill at Pelican Spruce Mills employs about 120 people.

Sun, sun, sun

The Edmonton weather office is predicting continuing sunny skies throughout the week.

Wednesday will be mainly sunny with a high of 22C and a low near 10C.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday's forecasts are for mostly sunny weather with highs reaching 23C and lows of 10C.

Slew-pitch players were swatting more than balls last week as mosquitos kept the players on their toes.

The Frank Maddock high school 10-year reunion will be held the weekend of Sept. 2-4.

Several parking lots around town, including Oilwell, have been paved.

New golf sheds have been placed at every hole at the golf course.

Mayor Bob Mayhew is still waiting for a reply from Yellowhead MP Joe Clark about the possibility of getting a railway into Drayton Valley. The mayor says he sent a letter to Clark two months ago.

"A railway would create greater industry," the mayor says.

Donations for the new arena in West Valley Park haven't been coming in as anticipated, according to recreation director Paul Nielson.

However, Nielson is hopeful the town will get some financial help from the Municipal District of Brazeau in the not-too-distant future.

A lift to accommodate wheelchairs at the new arena won't be completed due to lack of funds. About $20,000 is needed to complete the lift.

The outdoor rink isn't the only item to be scrapped at the new arena. A lack of funds will see the landscaping put on hold and for the time being, the parking lot will be gravelled.

The official trustee for the new school district visited Drayton Valley last week. He met with MD Reeve Henry Roudoux and former County of Parkland school trustee Cecil Dawkins.

The appointment of the official trustee still hasn't been made official by Alberta Education.

Petition targets Hwy. 759 paving

By Steve Fletcher

A Tomahawk area couple is hoping a petition can do what a vigorous letter-writing campaign could not — get Highway 759 paved.

Hugh and Mary Lee Wilkie say the issue now lies solely with Alberta Transportation and Utilities.

"My biggest complaint is that taxes have gone up again this year and the road has been regressing for 20 years," said Mary Lee, who with husband Hugh is leading a campaign to get the secondary highway smoothed out.

A total of 266 names were collected on lists set up in both Tomahawk and Seba Beach in June. The petition called for the paving of Highway 759 from Seba Beach to the North Saskatchewan River this year.

"We'd sure like to be optimistic, but we've got to get the provincial government's support," said Hugh, a Trans-Alta Utilities employee who farms in the area.

"We've lived here for 12 years and the road is worse now than it was when we first arrived."

Hugh was also critical of those who believe they should be patient and allow Hugh and Mary Lee Wilkie beside Highway 759.

the road time to pound itself out.

"I can't afford to purchase a $25,000 vehicle in order to pound out the highway for Alberta Transportation."

The petition was presented to the County of Parkland council July 7. Council has since responded with a letter stating a copy of the petition had been forwarded to Alberta Transportation and Utilities "in support of the area residents' request."

Mary Lee said a previous letter-writing campaign produced a number of different responses from various politicians and government departments, but no concrete results.

Moreover, the Wilkies contend the use of the highway is much greater than the government assumes.

As an example, the Wilkies say truck traffic has more than doubled since the Berrymoor bridge was constructed to replace the ferry several years ago.

And they believe it's time for Alberta Transportation to make a decision on the paving issue.

"If they don't go ahead with it, I'm going to keep on squeaking until we get somewhere," said Hugh.

He added that re-surfacing the road with a cold mix would also be considered an improvement.

"That's what we had on it before. We'd be back in the same position, but at least we'd be happier than we are now."

RCMP offer tips on holiday safety

The RCMP's vacation-time program check program is doing a booming business again this year.

Cpl. Tom Turner says the seasonal program generally has 30 to 36 premises on its list at any given time.

Homeowners who plan on leaving their houses unattended while vacationing should contact the RCMP in order to be placed on the list. Dates for departure and for return are required.

Patrolling officers make regular nightly checks of homes on the list, duties permitting.

In related matters, the local RCMP have an assortment of material available at its detachment dealing with residential protection and other topics focussing on the prevention of crime.

A pamphlet on securing the home, for instance, highlights the following points as preventative steps to avoid break-ins at your home when you're out of town:

- Don't place an article in your local paper indicating you'll be away from home — no matter how exotic or interesting your destination may be.
- Cancel all home deliveries of newspapers, milk, etc. Don't leave notes. Material such as throw-away newspapers and flyers should be removed daily by a neighbor.

- Closed blinds or drawn drapes present an unoccupied appearance. Leave them in different positions and arrange to have these positions changed occasionally by a neighbor.
- For night time security, inexpensive lights with timers

- are available. Timers may also be used to control interior lights and radios.
- Ask your neighbors not to inform inquiring strangers that you are away.
- Notify trusted neighbors of your plans and ask them to immediately call the police if they observe any unusual or suspicious activity around your home.

Other information relating to crime prevention include pamphlets on preventing auto theft, child safety, boating safety and motor vehicle accident protection.

Driver walks away

This Cobljar Construction bulk cement truck from Red Deer hit the ditch 15 miles north of Drayton Valley on Highway 22 last week. The driver, who walked away from the wreck, had little control when the right front tire blew, pulling the rig into the ditch, hitting a gulch and flipping over on its side. The fire department was called to check out diesel fuel leaking out of the tanks.

Road battle brewing in Tomahawk area

There appears to be another storm brewing in the Tomahawk area.

Now that the dust has settled on the formation of the new municipal district and a school district, some area residents are beating the drums over the condition of Highway 759.

Some residents want the highway from Seba Beach through Tomahawk to the Berrymoor bridge, or even Highway 39 for that matter, paved.

Brian King of Edmonton, a former Tomahawk-area resident, was one of the first to take up the fight. But support is mounting, which is evident from a 256-name petition that was recently presented to the County of Parkland.

This battle appears to be between the residents, County of Parkland and Highways Minister Al Adair.

Until recently, some of the residents got the impression it was simply a battle of "back-passing" between the county and the province, but just recently the county sided with the residents and has even sent a letter to the minister calling for action.

Now all the pressure is on Adair's shoulders to make a decision one way or another. The petitioners would like to see something done this year, but they realize it may be 1989.

Since taking their fight to the county, several graders have been observed along the 16-mile route, doing their best to keep the holes to a minimum and the dust down.

The route from Seba Beach through to Hwy 39 generates a lot of traffic. Not just the everyday farm and local residential traffic, but a lot of trucks are using the shortcut between Hwy 39 and the Yellowhead.

Like the MD/school issue, area residents who are pushing for improvements along Hwy 759, hope the dust is settled soon.

Franchise rumors keeping everyone in suspense

One of my pet peeves is with the people who cut the boulevard grass without picking up the paper or garbage first.

As a result, that one piece of paper becomes 10 little pieces of paper...and so on.

It creates a real eye-sore.

Town council in Edson has been taking a lot of flak over banning the public and media from their committee board meetings.

For some reason the press think it's only happening in Edson.

But, it was about a year ago that our recreation board recommended to town council that the public and the press be barred from all recreation meetings.

Frankly Speaking

Prior to that decision, the public or the press were never allowed to attend other committee and board meetings.

However, it's interesting to note the papers in Edson talked to the RCMP about the ban, and the authorities said they couldn't enforce it.

Very interesting.

Finally, it appears Kentucky Fried Chicken is just about set to open, ending months of speculation.

And now, it appears 7-11 may finally do something with the Mike's Food Store lot after closing down the convenience store in mid-November.

The next rumor is a Dairy Queen franchise. We have it on good authority that someone is interested in coming here.

Those darn rumors continue to keep us in suspense.

Writer blasts county

Dear Editor,

I was pleased to see that Mrs. MaryLee Wittke had presented our petition to the County of Parkland re: paving the road from Seba to Berrymore.

As a fellow ratepayer, I hope we shall see results. I am not too optimistic.

The road through Tomahawk has two winters of sand and gravel from snowplowing clogging up gutters and drains. In some places so thick, we have a fine crop of grass and weeds established. The creek is silted up with grass, weeds and rotting tree branches. Permission to clean this was given two years ago. During recent heavy rain, I pulled twigs and grass from the drains myself to enable the water to flow freely.

If this relatively simple task is beyond the capabilities of the county, any hope of having a complete paved road before at least 1990 is remote.

Marie E. Pearce

Unborn human beings without a voice

Dear Editor,

Imagine if you approached the people of Drayton Valley for your column Streetbeat. Your Opinion, with the question: Where do you stand on the abortion issue?

You'd probably hear from a 'pro-choice' who would say that it is up to the mother and her doctor; it is her choice.

You'd more than likely hear from a 'pro-life' who would tell you life is sacred and we should protect all life.

You might hear from a father who wanted to assert his paternal rights and raise the child.

Over the past few weeks we've heard from them all.

Or have we? If the unborn baby had a voice, I wonder what he would say?

It is our responsibility to make decisions to protect those who cannot protect themselves. It is the right of every human being to a proper defence and yet we consider the future of unborn human beings in a fashion that would be vehemently unacceptable to each one of us, should we be the subject of their decision.

Let's make the roads safer

By Michael McQuillan
Anyone who does a lot of cycling in the Drayton Valley area deals with a number of displeasing realities.

Three things I dislike about cycling are: bugs flying in my face while I peddle down the road; inexperienced and rude cyclists who create a bad reputation for law-abiding cyclists and motorists who don't share the road with cyclists.

There isn't much one can do about insects plastering your face but there should be something one could do about rude cyclists and motorists.

Education is probably the only way to demonstrate to these guilty parties the need for cooperation on our roads.

The Highway Traffic Act states that a bicyclist has all the rights and must abide by all the laws of the road. Many cyclists and motorists don't seem to realize this.

Recently, Petro-Canada produced a video-tape on

Newsroom Comment

bike safety for school-age children. The tape will be made available through local schools. From this I hope a new generation of safe cyclists and motorists will emerge.

For older generations who were never taught the correct rules of the road there are a number of facts to remember if you want to survive or let others survive.

A car outweighs a bike and rider by a good 2,000 pounds and has more horsepower in its engine than a cyclist has in his/her muscles. Hence, the winner of a road disagreement will always be a car.

Sounds unfair, but countless times around the province every summer cyclists are killed or injured.

After a collision between a bike and a vehicle no one really cares who was in the right, because very often the result is a fatality.

Our roads can be a very deadly place to be. Cooperation, safe motoring and safe cycling are the only ways to saving lives.

Accidents being investigated

A collision July 25 at the intersection of 57th Street and 50th Avenue has led to charges being laid against one of the drivers.

The accident occurred when a vehicle attempting to turn left at the intersection was broadsided by the second vehicle, said an RCMP spokesman.

RCMP say the driver has been charged with failing to proceed safely after stopping at a stop sign when one of the vehicles was broadsided while attempting to make a left-hand turn.

RCMP are also investigating a second accident that occurred later in the day.

The accident, which took place at the junction of Highway 22 and 50th Avenue, occurred when a three-quarter ton truck heading north attempted to pass a semi-trailer making a wide sweeping left turn toward Poplar Ridge.

The smaller vehicle veered suddenly to the left to avoid hitting the rear of the semi-trailer and was clipped. The truck then skidded into a ditch and overturned.

Minor injuries were sustained in both accidents, said an RCMP spokesman.

AIDS policy in place at local hospital

The Drayton Valley Health Complex has developed an AIDS policy to effectively deal with the deadly virus.

Hospital officials say such a policy is merely an extension of long-standing guidelines regarding infectious diseases.

"We do have a policy regarding the handling of blood and body fluids," said executive director Jim Jansen. "Not just for AIDS but for all potential diseases."

The hospital instituted specific guidelines in July 1987. Jansen said all members of staff have been made aware of the facility's new precautions.

The hospital has an infection-control committee and a policy and procedure committee that is charged with keeping abreast of the latest developments.

"We've done our homework on it and prepared our staff," said Jansen.

Dr. Brian Loosemore, chief of medical staff, wouldn't comment when asked if the hospital has ever admitted an AIDS patient, saying that confidentiality is paramount.

Dr. S.I. Hnako, a consulting pathologist and a member of the joint committee on infectious control for the Alberta Hospitals Association, is acting as an advisor to the Drayton Valley Health Complex.

AIDS is a virus which develops almost exclusively through either sexual contact or through the intravascular exposure to blood.

Town camera stolen

Town council won't be filming this week's meeting.

Their video camera and VCR, valued at $3,500, were taken during a break-in last week.

Thieves also took cash and 25 motorcycle plates from the motor vehicle office and at Movie Madness, they got away with seven VCRs valued at $2,500 and a set of speakers priced at $2,000.

RCMP believe the thefts took place last Wednesday between 2:30 a.m. and 6 a.m.

In all three instances, entry was gained by prying open doors with a large crow bar.

AADAC offering movies

This month the Drayton Valley AADAC office is hosting a summer film festival.

The films to be presented deal with adolescent issues such as peer pressure, substance abuse and communication. While the films are educational in nature, they are also interesting and entertaining.

On Tuesday, August 9, the movie Scattered will be featured. It reveals the problems two adolescents have when their drug use gets out of hand.

On Tuesday, August 16, the films Stoned and Wasted will be featured. Both deal with adolescents and substance abuse.

On Tuesday, August 23, the films Seventeen Going on Nowhere and A Hit for Mike will be presented. These films take a look at parent/teen relationships and solvent abuse.

The movies will commence every Tuesday morning at 10 a.m. in the conference room on the main floor of the Provincial building.

If you are finding the summer long please come. The films are suitable for the 10-to-15-year-old group, but anyone is welcome — parents, too.

There is no cost for admission.

For further information call AADAC at 542-5688.

The new arena has begun to take shape.

New arena on schedule

The town's new arena in West Valley Park is right on schedule.

However, project manager and recreation director Paul Nielsen has confirmed that plans for an outdoor ice surface have been scrapped for the 1988-89 season.

The ice plant is expected to be turned on in mid-September to get the bugs out of the equipment with the first skate tentatively set for Oct. 3.

One of the biggest jobs still left to do is pouring the pad. The five-inch 200-long-by-65-foot-wide ice surface is expected to be done in mid-August.

The plans for an outdoor ice surface had to be scrapped when an additional $16,000 had to be spent on upgrading the ice plant.

Nielsen says only minor hockey had indicated an interest in utilizing the outdoor ice, and they had requested 22 hours per week.

The original cost of the outdoor rink had been pegged at $20,000.

In its place the town will build a snowbank rink east of the main arena.

Lanny Schultz, president of the Drayton

Valley Minor Hockey Association is very upset over the town's decision to scrap the outdoor rink.

However, Nielsen says if the junior Devils fold, their practice and game ice will be available to other users.

The recreation director also feels that if a second indoor ice surface is ever built, about $400,000 would be needed.

The seating, 440 seats in total, is located on the west side of the building with the players' boxes and the penaltytimekeepers' box on the east side.

The new structure includes six dressing rooms designed to accommodate 18 players. Showers and bathroom facilities will be shared by two teams.

Officials will have a much improved room including their own showers and bathroom.

Hot water lines have been installed in the concrete seating area, providing fans with something new.

The new arena also includes a larger lobby area that will feature tempered glass looking out onto the sunken ice surface.

Neptunes 'best ever'

The swimming season is drawing to a close and Neptune coach Lorne Regnier feels this year's team is the best ever. "It's the best club we've had in a long time," says Regnier. The Neptunes will take more than 40 swimmers to the regional meet in St. Albert August 13-14.

Regnier feels the meet will be a tough one for local swimmers. "It's a very strong one this year."

To qualify for the provincials swimmers will have to finish first or second at the St. Albert meet. Four other provincial spots will be earned by swimmers with the fastest times in the province.

"If work is an indication we should do well," says Regnier. Last year the Neptunes saw 26 swimmers in the provincials. The local squad will have one more meet at Westlock, August 7, to tune up before the regional meet.

Nine clubs participated in the Edson swim meet, July 23. The Drayton Valley Neptunes entered 42 swimmers and came away with a fourth-place finish.

Following are the results of the Saturday meet.

First-place Relays

Boys 8 and under: 100m medley relay - Benjamin Wilson, David Rurka, Travis McGinn and Josh Getzinger.

Following Edson the team travelled to Hinton for another nine-team meet. Thirty-five Neptune swimmers paddled their way to a third-place finish.

Results of the Sunday, July 24 meet were as follows.

Girls 6 and under: 25m breast - Marcie Regnier.

Girls 7 and 8: 25m backstroke - Tara Drigley.

Maclock, Malanowich advance

The Drayton Valley men's golf league has come down to a two-team battle.

The Ernie Malanowich team and Gordon Maclock team have advanced to the finals, Aug. 2 and 4, to be played at the Drayton Valley course.

Malanowich finished first in the final standings, defeating the Sufrore and Cutting teams to advance to the finals. Maclock advanced with wins over Kuzek and Neal squads. Eighteen teams of 10 golfers each competed in this year's league.

Board approves salary hike

City of Leduc public school teachers will receive an end-rate increase of 3.2 per cent under a recently-ratified contract.

The one-year contract includes a one-per-cent increase as of Sept. 1, 1988, a one-per-cent increase as of Jan. 1, 1989 and a 1.5-per-cent increase as of July 1, 1989.

Ratified by local members of the ATA late in June, the contract was approved July 12 by the city of Leduc public school board. The new contract runs from Sept. 1, 1988 to Aug. 31, 1989.

With the increase, the district salary grid for teachers is slightly higher than the provincial average, reported secretary-treasurer Orville Borge.

At the end of the new contract, a teacher with four years of education and 11 years of experience will earn a salary of $43,403 - an increase from the present salary of $42,043. The provincial average for teachers at that level is $43,320, said Borge.

Oilers-Colts in league battle

The battle between Drayton Valley Oilers and Easyford Colts in Men's Oilfield baseball appears likely to continue until the last game of the year.

Both teams have identical records going in to this weekend's playoff tournament, but the Oilers have the upperhand in games against the Colts. Oilers have three wins in five outings against the Colts.

The local squad defeated Easyford 14-4 last Thursday, July 28, in their most recent game between the two arch-rivals. The two league-leading sides played last night, with results unavailable at press time.

The playoff tournament, slated for the weekend at West Valley Park, will feature a double round-robin. The final game is scheduled for Sunday.

Picnic info wanted

Having a picnic this summer? Members of the Battle River Tourist Association were advised at a recent meeting that a book is being written about picnics in Alberta.

The author is looking for suggestions as to ideal spots in Battle River Country that may be a little unusual, or even the not-to-be-missed well known sites but with a bit of a twist like a ghost or a legend or a notable historic event. Sites that can be reached by car with no more than a short walk to the actual picnic spot will be chosen.

If you are having a "complete" old fashioned picnic and would like it considered for inclusion in the Alberta picnic publication contact Nancy Gibson and John Wittaker, 3629-103B St., Edmonton, AB T6J 2X8. Phone 438-1804.

One hundred farm workers killed in accidents yearly

By Bev Brooks
District Home Economist
One in every four families will be involved with some type of farm accident.

Each year over one hundred agricultural workers are killed and thousands are injured in farm related accidents. With its complex machinery, unpredictable livestock and long hours, farming is said to be one of the most dangerous occupations in North America.

"You can improve your farm safety" is the theme for this year's National Farm Safety Week, July 25 to 31. The annual campaign aims to focus public attention on farming hazards, emphasizing accident prevention measures.

The theme "you can improve farm safety" emphasizing accident prevention measures.

The theme "you can improve farm safety" emphasizes the important role you as individual farmers and your families can play in improving the safety and efficiency of your own operation. You own the farm, you set the rules and you employ the workers whether they be hired hands or members of your own family. Awareness of potential hazards and action taken to control or eliminate them could prevent an accident on your farm.

Start this week! Identify hazards, correct or control them and prepare your family for emergency situations.

The following ideas may help you get started:

1. Take a hike around your farm with family members. A "safety shines on our farm" guide is available from our office at Alberta Agriculture. It suggests a hike route and questions the safety of various components on a farm. Completing the hike and returning the evaluation page by September 15 will make you eligible for a prize draw.

2. Discuss the results of your family hike and develop a plan to minimize the hazards or deal with a potential crisis. Everyone should be involved with the plan. Knowledge and preparation are the best antidotes to fear and panic.

3. Follow the safety rules you set. Do as I say and not as I do" has little place in a safety program.

4. Manage stress and high emotions. Work with your whole family to handle problems. Don't make an accident happen by working with complex machinery while half your mind is tied up with other worries.

5. First aid training is essential. Ideally, at least two individuals on each farm should be trained in first aid.
6. Have family training sessions so that everyone knows the proper way to use common safety devices such as fire extinguishers, respirators and other vital equipment.

Identifying potential hazards on your farm, correcting them and developing a comprehensive emergency plan will go a long way toward preventing needless tragedy and saving lives.

You can improve farm safety! Pick up a copy of the farm safety hike guide and other farm safety publications from our office.

Valley Gift and Stationery has two new owners.

Judy Deol and Lori Thiesen have purchased the Drayton Valley business from Alf Armstrong and Dick Keldsen. Inventory was counted at the downtown store on the weekend and the new owners were hard at work yesterday Tuesday.

"We've been at it since 1956 and decided it was time to quit," Armstrong told The Western Review.

Both Armstrong and Keldsen plan on staying in town.

"I'm going to miss it. I'll have to find something else to occupy the time," Armstrong added.

Have dugout water tested

Farmers in drought-stricken areas are advised to have dugout water tested to make sure there isn't a concentration of minerals in the water that could be harmful to livestock.

A specialist with Alberta Agriculture says as water levels in dugouts drop through use and evaporation, naturally occurring minerals in the water tend to concentrate.

Dr. Gordon Chalmers, a veterinarian with the department's regional veterinary lab in Lethbridge, says certain concentrations of minerals can be harmful to turkeys, cattle, sheep and swine.

He says the best way to make sure the water quality isn't a problem is to have it tested at a government or private laboratory.

"The drought in southern and other areas of Alberta is raising concerns not only about the general availability of water for livestock, but also the quality of the water that is available," says Chalmers.

"Water supplies for livestock, especially for cattle on pasture, may become more critical as water levels in dugouts decrease. One problem with reduced supplies of water is that, with continuing evaporation, the minerals that are naturally present, become increasingly concentrated and as a result can cause health problems in livestock."

The specialist says the problems can range from excess accumulations of fluid, called "waterbelly," in the tissues and abdomen of turkey poult and chicks, to a degenerative condition called "polio" in the brains of cattle and sheep.

"Depending on the results of water analysis, livestock producers may have to obtain alternate sources of supply, such as streams and irrigation canals, to dilute or replace the unsuitable water that may be present in existing dugouts in a drought situation," says Chalmers.

Information on Water quality, is also available in copies of two Alberta Agriculture publications, "Chemical Analysis of water for Livestock Use," Agdex 400/65-1 and the fact sheet, "Water Analysis Interpretation," Agdex 410/716-2. These are available from district offices or by writing The Publications Office, 7000 - 113 Street, Edmonton, Alberta, T6J 6T6.

A sincere thank you to all my clients for their devoted patronage over the past ten years. We will be moving from Drayton Valley and leaving many fond memories behind.

Alberta law requires child safety seats

The Alberta Motor Association consumer information department says "the best way to protect children when travelling in a car is to ensure that they travel in child restraint seats (CRS)."

In fact, in Alberta the law requires that children under six years of age and 18 kg in weight be restrained in an approved child safety seat.

Types of Child Restraints

For infants who lack the muscle development to hold their head upright and prevent whiplash, rear-facing seats are the best choice. These distribute the force of a collision evenly across the strongest part of your infant's body and the back of the safety seat. The "infant seat" or "infant carrier" will protect your child from birth to nine kg (20 pounds).

A "convertible seat" will protect your child from birth to 22 kg (48 pounds). You can use this type of seat first as a rear-facing infant carrier, and then as a forward-facing child safety seat as your child grows.

For children weighing more than 18 kg (40 pounds), "booster" seats position the seat belt properly, with the lap belt fitting low on the hips and the shoulder belt fitting across the chest (not the face or neck). Booster seats cannot be used in Alberta for children under six years or weighing less than 18 kg.

Seats must meet government standards. Every seat manufactured after September 1, 1982 must have a label stating that it complies with Canadian motor vehicle safety standards (CMVSS) issued by Transport Canada. This information must also appear: the name and address of the manufacturer; model name or number, date (month and year) the seat was manufactured, and instructions in French and English or how the seat is to be used and installed.

Installation

Incorrectly used seats are illegal and could result in a $25 fine in Alberta. Carefully review and follow the manufacturer's instructions. All child safety seats must be properly installed in order to be effective.

Installation may be complicated because some vehicles do not have anchor assemblies. Contact the Alberta Motor Association consumer information department to obtain the guide, tether anchorages for child "restraints" by Transport Canada, for model years 1986 to present. After 1989, anchorages will be required in all vehicles. For vehicles prior to 1985, check the owner's manual.

Canada Post's rates to be reviewed says MP

More than 66 Battle River Tourist Association members met in The Village of Ryley for last month's meeting.

In dealing with business from previous meetings members were pleased to receive notification from Arnold Malone, MP Crowfoot that a full review of Canada Post's plans for rates and services has been announced.

BRTA is concerned with the "overrate letters" policy and as such, administration was instructed to forward BRTA's concern to the newly established postal services review board. BRTA strongly concurs with a statement of Harvie Andre, minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs and minister responsible for Canada Post: "Now that Canada Post is breaking even and revenues are coming out of the pockets of postal users, customers have a right to say in both national and local issues."

BRTA pays Canada Post in excess of $10,000 annually.

With the 1988 promotional programs well in hand the association is already formulating plans for 1989.

Bids on printing the 1989 Battle River County Visitors Guide were considered.

In other business members were advised the 1988 $2 budget year will mark the last year for the tourism events promotional assistance program (TEPAP).

The program was established to offer promotional support grants to organizations with limited funding for marketing programs. In a letter from Alberta Tourism BRTA was advised that the introduction of the team tourism grant program to fund a full range of activities in the tourism marketing mix has created an overlap of funding functions, and as such, TEPAP will be discontinued as of March 31.

Members were advised the Zone 5 marketing plan is falling into place. BRTA manager Sylvia Clements noted that all operators have had the opportunity to be a part of the plan.

An operators/consultant meeting was held July 21, at which time operators had the opportunity to meet Doug Crapa, president, EXCELeration Corp. A second meeting is scheduled for Aug. 18, 12:30 p.m. at the Camrose Royal Canadian Legion, at which time the team tourism marketing plan will be presented to operators.

Under new business, BRTA past president Wm Fowler of Camrose voiced a concern that in some cases visitors and/or customers may not be receiving fair treatment at banking institutions in banking institutions in regard to various money transactions such as cashing travellers cheques, changing cash and coinage, etc.

As such, members are asked to check at their local banking institutions as to what service charges are being levied for various money transactions. The information should be submitted to the BRTA office in writing so that it can be documented and presented to the board for action if necessary.

'When the going gets tough, the tough get going'

By Steve Fletcher
Round hay bales and green, gently rolling hills.
That's what instills pride in Buck Lake rancher Doug Patten.

It's one of the many in tangible pleasures that come from living off the land.

"Pride comes at the end of the day when you feel you've accomplished something," he says. "Pride is seeing my son and daughter in law show an interest in what I'm doing."

But I think the biggest feeling of pride is being able to raise our children so they are almost completely self sufficient.

Last week, Patten's family was honored in Edmonton as part of the Klondike Days celebration. The Patten clan
— Doug, wife Mavis, son Rory, his wife Geraldine, daughter Brockie and her husband Doug Yarkowsky (who live in Breton but help out at the ranch when need ed) — was saluted by Edmonton Northstars along with 30 other farm families across northern Alberta.

Nominated by the County of Wetaskiwin, Patten's Raven Ridge Ranch fits into the basic criteria. It's an active family farm in which agriculture is the major source of income, and the family is vigorously involved in both agricultural and community affairs within its district.

"We were surprised by the award," said Doug, 47, who acknowledges that his cow/calf operation, which stretches over two sections (1,280 acres), is one of the larger family farms in the county's District 7.

Despite the immensely satisfying lifestyle, Doug is not oblivious to the gloomy forecast attached to farming in general and family farms in particular.

What does he attribute this to?

"Number one — it's too easily for the younger generation to own their own farms. You can't go out and start farming, there's just too much cost involved to get established."

A bumper crop...from left: Mavis, Doug, Geraldine and Rory Patten were presented with a Farm Family award at Edmonton's Klondike Days celebration last week.

Adds Doug, who started the Raven Ridge Ranch in 1971 after a decade of work at a neighboring gas plant. "I think if you're looking at monetary gain it would be best to go out and get a lun-chbucket and a hard hat."

Nevertheless, son Rory, 23, and wife Geraldine, 21, say they're more than willing to keep the family farm alive for the next generation.

"When the going gets tough, the tough get going — that's just it," says Rory, who spent a year at an Arizona college studying livestock production on a rodeo scholarship.

Rory says he enjoys working on a ranch where he can remain isolated from the "hustle and bustle" of urban living.

"I think more people are coming back to the farm," he insists. "They're finding that city living isn't as easy as they thought. The shortage of jobs is also making them come back again."

Doug and Mavis grew up together in Sedgewick, Alberta. Doug, of course, had hay and calving and riding the range in his blood. Mavis, on the other hand, was an unashamed urbanite.

She remembers her first years at the Raven Ridge Ranch as somewhat less than heavenly.

"I thought we came to the end of the world," she says.
"But I can't imagine living anywhere else now."

While it "took a lot of learning" to overcome her greenness, she now considers "baby calves in the spring, a good hay crop and good weather for haying" as some of her most satisfying moments.

Beneath the surface, Doug readily admits the many hardships connected with farming often leave him frustrated and stressed.

He points out that, with variations in income as much as 50 per cent from one year to the next, not knowing the bottomline is one of the hazards of the job.

"It's hectic, fast paced and probably more stressful than I would like, but it's very rewarding."

Moreover, the past few years have been above average ones for the cow/calf industry.

Financially, the last couple of years have been quite good," he says. "But we've had some bad years prior to this where low prices and high cost input have meant that income hasn't kept up with cost of production."

Still, Doug is cautious to avoid sounding in anyway pessimistic.

Thoughts of a successful calving season just past and a hay field that's ready to be cultivated revert his attention to the good things that come from owning a ranch.

"Regardless of what you're doing or how much money you're making, the important thing is that it should be something you want to do."

Raven Ridge Ranch self-sufficient

There's no such thing as a typical day at the ranch, says Doug Patten.

"That's the good part about it," he maintains.

The Raven Ridge Ranch is almost completely self-sufficient: It overhauls its own motors, does most of the required veterinary work, and artificially inseminates its purebred cattle in the spring.

While winter can be relatively routine, the haying season means "long days and no days off unless it rains."

Patten says

Similarly, calving season is a 24-hour-a-day endeavour.
Ranch members take shifts to ensure the cows are checked every three hours.

"You don't have to punch a clock, but to be successful you have to put a lot into it — you have to show more dedication," Patten says.

Branding time is another important day on the Buck Lake ranch's calendar.

They do it the old fashioned way.

"We heel the calves with saddle horses and then drag them to the branding fire," says Patten. "Friends and neighbors come to help and we have a party and celebrate spring."

The Pattens also do custom branding at neighboring ranches. This year they branded

There's no such thing as a typical day at the ranch.

Despite the hectic lifestyle, the ranchers have nonetheless found time to pursue hobbies: Patten has for many years bred border collies while son Rory trains quarter horses.

Keeping up with the latest trends in agriculture is also a vital but time-consuming task.

Rory is currently working on a project to cross-breed Black Angus cows with their Maine-Anjou counterparts.
There's a pretty good market for them right now, he says.

Meanwhile, Patten is busy experimenting with winter grazing on behalf of the Grey Wooded Forage Association.

Success story wasn't planned

Alltype Rentals is a Drayton Valley success story.

Since starting in 1978, the company has flourished and is now considered the largest rural-based supplier of rental equipment in Alberta.

Spanning two acres and with over 6,500-square-feet of covered area, company president Pete Jacobs says the "natural growth" of Alltype Rentals was something he hadn't planned on.

"No, I didn't think 10 years ago that we'd be this size. I didn't realize what was involved, and I didn't realize the diversity of proper quality rental equipment."

Jacobs who is also president of Jacobs Construction Ltd., added that Alltype Rentals was formed almost as an offshoot of his construction company.

"We owned a lot of equipment which everyone was borrowing — so we decided to start renting." He now estimates there are roughly 2,500 rental pieces stocked at the Drayton Valley location.

Although offsite maintenance and building contractors are Alltype Rentals' major clients, Jacobs is quick to point out the company also serves the needs of farmers and homeowners.

Amid the cluttered confines of Alltype's shelves and back lot are an array of supplies, including air compressors, pumps, electric generators and compaction equipment — the company's

"four biggest movers," noted Jacobs. "We're constantly buying and getting rid of things," added the Ontario-born contractor, a former professional photographer.

Four years ago, Alltype Rentals set up a second outfit in Slave Lake.

Ironically, Jacobs said the economic downturn in the energy industry was partially responsible for the expansion.

"We had so much extra inventory and we couldn't sell it, so in order to make use of it we went looking for another location."

Business has since recovered and remains as competitive as ever.

Alltype Rentals' chief competition comes from Edmonton, Calgary and Red Deer as far as the larger equipment is concerned. "They're certainly our biggest competitors, although everybody is trying to rent something so, of course, we're competing on a local level with many people," Jacobs noted.

For Alltype Rentals, service and selection are the keys to operating successfully.

"We carry specialty items that will in fact never pay for themselves, but we have them in stock as a customer service," stressed Jacobs, who has lived in Drayton Valley since 1982.

The company has a staff of eight, including both full and part-time workers.

Your doctor best person to decide about breast disease

By Dr. Ilob Young
Breast lumps and breast pain both have understandable, great analogy in women.
But even at a breast clinic, where difficult cases are seen, only 15 per cent of women with those symptoms will have cancer. Cancer must be looked for and, if present, treated.
Design or non-cancerous breast disease is common, affecting perhaps one woman in two, and the pain and discomfort can make life miserable for a proportion of these. There is little known about benign breast disorders, and this makes treatment difficult.

Fibrocystic disease, a name commonly applied to breasts containing a few to dozens of lumps, is probably not well named. Almost all women have "fibrocysts" of microscopic size, with no symptoms. Why some enlarge and others enlarge and hurt is unknown.
In some pre-menopausal women the symptoms are cyclical, related to periods. In others, and in older women,

Medically Speaking

there is no such pattern. The cysts, when they form, may be fairly large and can often be easily drained using a needle and syringe, a procedure that may have to be repeated.

Several theoretical causes have been proposed, most based on presumed hormonal abnormalities. Juggling the hormones has, by and large, been disappointing. So has reducing caffeine intake (tea, coffee, cola and chocolate), although this form of treatment has recently been popular.

Affected women need treatment, and some things can be done. Most important is the exclusion of cancer. This provides reassurance for both the patient and the doctor, and appropriate counselling may help reduce the pain.

Painful cysts can be drained, and a mild analgesic will reduce discomfort. Addicting narcotics must be avoided. Repeated breast biopsies should be eliminated unless there is good reason (such as a new positive mammogram) to do one.

A supportive bra helps some women, but not others. If you are concerned about any breast symptom, see your doctor promptly. He or she has examined many breasts and is the best person to decide whether yours are normal, contain fibrocysts, or are suspicious for cancer.

Celebrated newlyweds visit Em-Te Ranch

By Bernice Johnson
Wayne and Janet Gretskey and his parents were unexpected guests at the Em-Te Ranch July 17. Owner Len Mohr was unaware the newlywed celebrities had visited until he read the guest register. The couple had stopped at the Shell station to ask for directions and were recognized there.

Twenty six children participated in the Vacation Bible school July 11 to 18, sponsored by the Covenant Church.

Jim and Joanne Stenstrom, along with their children Kyle, Peter and Chris were in Alder Flats recently saying goodbye to their friends at Faith Bible Church. The Stenstroms lived here from 1976-82 where he taught at the Alder Flats school. They then moved to Cochrane and for the past five years have been spent at the Prairie Bible Institute at Three Hills.

The Stenstrom family are now part of the Africa Inland Mission in Kenya. Jim will be teaching at the Rift Valley Academy, a boarding school for missionary children, involving about 500 students. They will also be doing parents for about 22 Grade 5 and 6 girls.

Stan and Margaret Woloszyn accompanied their daughter and son-in-law Donna and Larry Regmy on a trip to Jasper and Calgary for a few days.

On July 16 the family of Dick and Zella MacRae honored them by hosting a party for their 30th wedding anniversary. Family and friends came from Blainville, British Columbia and points in Alberta to help the couple celebrate. Following the supper, Irene Ohl's band supplied the dancing music at the Entwistle hall.

Gordon and Joyce Engstrom of Lantzville, B.C. were seen touring through Moon Lake area on their way to Tomahawk to visit family and friends.

Locals enjoy holidays, touring

By Bernice Johnson

They travelled through the bordering United States, Montana, North Dakota, Wisconsin, Michigan, New York, Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine. Back in Canada they picked up their daughter Kathy in St. John, New Brunswick, where she will attend Councelling School, following her visit with her parents.

Some highlights of their travels included the Bay of Fundy, Cabot Trail and the Annapolis Valley in Nova Scotia. In Prince Edward Island they toured the house of Anne of Green Gables and Covenish Beach.

Buck Lake

They enjoyed a gilded tour of the Parliament buildings and Old Quebec.

Alois and Habsa Rainer were accompanied by Calvin and Joan Durrant and Lila McLeod for a two-week holiday through Saskatchewan, North Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin, where they visited with her aunt and uncle, Mabel and Elmer Washburn. They returned via Fairmont and Radium Hot Springs where they enjoyed

The road is still there

Once again we had the great privilege to drive through the mountain roads.

Each time we talk about their majestic beauty and how the weather clothes them in nature's dress. No two look alike. What an exciting time as we witness the great handwork of our God! We also recognize the great human effort of making and maintaining these highways.

Those mountain streams remind me of life here upon earth rushing forth, twisting and turning towards its destination, then on the flats it seems to stand still or be resting. Yet we know it is still moving towards its destination. Each little drop desiring to lose itself in the great ocean. The road is still there! The course for the traveller, the channel for the rain drop, the seasons come and go. God's design.

We have travelled the mountain highways many times and often take visitors along with us. There are those who cannot enjoy the beauty of God's handwork because of fear. They have travelled many miles on lower areas of God's vast universe. Could it be that in our spiritual journey we become accustomed to only the familiar roads of Christian service and worship and we fear to travel the faith road?

Driving the mountain highways you cannot see the road ahead very far; it looks like you are going to drop over the edge or run smack into the mountain ahead. But don't worry, there will be a turn in the road, and it will be paved too. Follow on, and reach your destination.

From the Pastor's pen

By Pastor Donald Snell
DV Church of God

Christians - let us not be fearful! Christ said: "I am the Way, the Truth and the Life. No man cometh unto the Father but by Me." Jn. 14:6.

I assured a young lad riding in the front seat with me that we could not get lost in the mountains as long as we stayed on the road - it takes you through to your destination. The same is true in the Christian walk. Jesus is the way which guides us to our heavenly home. Take time to enjoy the trip; stop and view the mountain peaks of worship. Look down upon these valleys you have crossed. Listen to Ps. 41:10: "Fear thou not; for I am with thee, be not dismayed; for I am thy God; I will strengthen thee; I will help thee; I will uphold thee with the right hand of My righteousness."

The psalmist writes Ps. 1, verse 3: "For Thou art my rock and my fortress; therefore for Thy name's sake lead me and guide me." Friend, the road is still there! Christ is the way - Eternity is ahead.
